

Shipping for United States Customers

In order to calculate shipping costs- please add the item/s to your cart to use the shipping calculator feature. You may delete the item from your cart afterwards if you wish.

We currently use the USPS' Priority Mail method, which allows you to track your package, and automatically includes $50.00 worth of insurance. Starting in January 2014- insurance will be included in the shipping & handling charges for each doll/ package. This is for your protection and the protection of your purchase. Any doll valued at more than $50.00 will be insured accordingly. If you do not wish to have your doll fully insured- you may email us to cancel the insurance and request to have those charges refunded to you. Please note that in the event an under insured doll is lost or damaged during shipping, Doll Anatomy is not responsible for any compensations, and will not be able to process a claim exceeding $50.00 with the post office. Please note that even though we ship our items Priority Mail & in a timely manner, and provide tracking information- we cannot control the transit time in which the post office will process packages.

We are happy to report that there were no lost or damaged dolls within the US in 2015
